The research question is one of the most important parts of your research project, thesis or dissertation. It’s important to spend some time assessing and refining your question before you get started. The exact form of your question will depend on the length of your project, the type of research, the topic, and the research problem. How can sexual health clinics in district X develop their services and communications to be more LGBT-inclusive? The first question is too simple, asking for a straightforward fact that can be easily found online. The second is a more complex comparative question that requires data collection and detailed discussion to answer. How is race represented in Shakespeare’s Othello? Covering the entire research process—how one conceptualizes a research idea, turns it into an interesting and researchable question, selects a methodology, conducts the study, and writes up the study’s findings—there are a number of Commonly Asked Questions that are asked on a regular basis in an interview. The following are the most asked interview questions with some good tips on how to reply them correctly. How Would you Describe your Boss? Interview Question and Answer. One of the typical interview question is - Can you please describe Your Boss? Why do the interviewers ask this questions about your previous direct manager/boss and how to answer this question? Tell Me about Yourself Interview Questions and Answers. Not everyone is open to relocation or business travels. The company tries to find out if you are willing to relocate or whether you are willing to travel and how often. Read more. Why Are You The Best Person For The Job?
